

Chicken-Shit Clown-Faced Republican Losers:

For each and every one of you Republican 'representatives' living in 'fear' of Donald Trump's ability to cancel your funding, insert another deadbeat in the primary to run against you, or any other fear that you have of being exposed for the cowardly heartless loser that you really are -

Politics

Trump says 5 GOP senators who voted to limit Venezuela war powers "should never be elected to office again"

By Caitlin Yilek

Updated on: January 8, 2026 / 2:39 PM EST / CBS News

 Add CBS News on Google

Washington — President Trump lashed out at the five Republican senators who voted to advance a war powers resolution to limit his ability to further strike Venezuela without congressional approval, saying they "should never be elected to office again."

"Republicans should be ashamed of the Senators that just voted with Democrats in attempting to take away our Powers to fight and defend the United States of America," Mr. Trump wrote Thursday afternoon.

You are placing your personal fears and desires ahead of the American people that you swore to your community that you would represent.

You are the true reason why Donald Trump and the American military are running wild across the world without any accountability to any consequences (beyond losing the support of everyone in the entire world).

You are the reason that the world hates America! You chose to protect your own positions and your own reputations at the expense of the United States of America that you were elected to represent.

Your individual reputation and representation is not more important than collectively representing the values that created your affluent success in the first place.

Each of you clowns is protecting your own nest at the expense of every other person in America and the world.

Seriously, this is where we are at now? The President of the United States of America is threatening the physical safety and security of the families of his own party in order to keep their support?

● This article is more than 10 months old

Republicans terrified of crossing Trump due to physical threats, Democrat says

Eric Swalwell says threats to them and their families are stopping GOP officials from criticizing president

Donald Trump at the White House earlier this week. Photograph: Al Drago/UPI /Rex/Shutterstock

Republicans on Capitol Hill are shying away from criticizing Donald Trump's policies over fears for their physical safety and that of their families, a Democratic member of Congress has said.

Do you see what is happening to our world? Do you read what I am writing in the messages that I am sending to you? We are in danger and you have the ability to hold this person accountable for an ongoing crime spree that is threatening people across the world.

You need to withdraw from his party. Period. It is now time to withdraw all support from this criminal operation. This cannot continue any further. Every Donald Trump sponsored agenda item must be completely abandoned from the priorities of ever person and politician across the world.

Let him throw his weight around and pitch a giant toddler fit. We have to deal with this giant crying baby in our home every day and every night.

We are surviving and so will the world. But, if you do not withdraw all support for his agenda, I cannot make that same conclusion. The United States of America is / was the last line of defense against an existential takeover of all things good in our life.

Donald's team is destroying that last line of defense every single day. It is time to withdraw all support from the Donald Trump sponsored agenda for the future of the world.

Eric Swalwell, a Democratic representative from California, said his Republican colleagues were “terrified” of crossing Trump not only because of the negative impact on their political careers, but also from anxiety that it might provoke physical threats that could cause personal upheaval and require them to hire round-the-clock security as protection.

I CAN PERSONALLY VOUCH FOR THE NECESSITY OF HAVING 24/7 SECURITY TO DEFEND ONE'S HOME FROM THE TANTRUM OF OUR CURRENT PRESIDENT.

DONALD TRUMP IS A THREAT TO OUR COMMUNITY.